An Investment in America's At-Risk Children

Sponsors help fund the Washington DC Conference. They also enable CUN to provide mentoring services to at-risk youth across the country.

Children Uniting Nations, Keeping the Promise to At-Risk Youth, Washington DC Conference is an annual conference that was created to gain national attention to the needs of our country's most vulnerable children-our foster youth. Our disregard to this abandoned population inevitably leads our foster youth to no other alternatives than those of negative consequences. A call to action is in order!!!

The Keeping the Promise to At-Risk Youth conference is an opportunity to highlight your corporation making a difference in the lives of children struggling in the child welfare system today and tomorrow. Your sponsorship will help Children Uniting Nations achieve the goals of the Keeping the Promise to At-Risk Youth conference and provide Academic Mentoring services to foster youth. In addition, your corporation will be seen as one who understands the needs of at-risk children and who supports a comprehensive, creative strategy to reform and support the child welfare system.

We invite you to join us at one of these sponsor levels:
